Subject: Flight Duty Time and Flight Time Limitations – Cabin Crew

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 The Annex 6 - Operation of Aircraft – Part I to the Convention on International Civil Aviation require Contracting States to establish regulations specifying the limits applicable to flight time, flight duty period and rest periods for Cabin crew.

1.2 The Cabin crew have a different working pattern than the flight crew and are required to work longer hours. Cabin Crew is required to be on board to assist in case an aircraft emergency evacuation is necessary. In addition, they are in-flight first responders who are trained to handle smoke and fire incidents, medical emergencies including Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation etc.

1.3 In order to enhance safety of operations and in exercise of powers conferred under Rule 133A of the Aircraft Rules 1937 the following Flight Duty Time and Flight Time Limitations for Cabin Crew are issued for information, guidance, and compliance by all concerned.

1.4 This CAR supersedes all previous communication, letters and any instructions issued by DGCA regarding Cabin crew FDTL and their Carriage, in any form and manner.
2. APPLICABILITY

The flight time, flight duty time and rest period shall be applicable to all cabin crew of scheduled / non-scheduled / General Aviation and Private Operators.

3. DEFINITIONS

3.1 DUTY

Any task that cabin crew members are required by the operator to perform, including, e.g., flight duty, administrative work, training (flight and ground), positioning and airport standby.

3.2 FLIGHT DUTY PERIOD

Flight duty period is the total time commencing from the time of reporting at the airport for the purpose of operating a flight and ending with the termination of a flight or a series of flights (Chocks On plus 15 Minutes for domestic operations and 30 minutes for international operations).

Note: Each operator shall prescribe in their operations manual the reporting time for cabin crew before the scheduled departure of the flight, while taking into consideration the time required for the pre-flight briefing, medical and other administrative functions required for operating a flight.

3.3 FLIGHT TIME

The total time from the moment an aeroplane first moves for the purpose of taking off until the moment it finally comes to rest at the end of the flight.

Note: “Flight time” as here defined is synonymous with the term “block to block” time or “chock to chock” time in general usage which is measured from the time an aeroplane first moves for the purpose of taking off until it finally stops at the end of the flight.

3.4 REST PERIOD

An uninterrupted and defined period of time during which a crew member is free from all duties and airport standby.

3.5 SPLIT DUTY (BREAK)

A period free of all duties, which counts as duty, being less than a rest period.
3.6 STANDBY

It is a defined period of time during which a cabin crew member is required by the operator to be available to receive an assignment for a specific duty without an intervening rest period.

3.7 REPORTING TIME

The time at which cabin crew member is required by an operator to report for duty.

Note: For the purpose of reporting time, the operator shall maintain a record.

3.8 HOME BASE

The location nominated by the operator to the crew member from where the crew member normally starts and ends a flight duty or a series of flight duties.

3.9 LOCAL NIGHT

A period of eight hours falling between 2200 hours and 0800 hours local time.

Note: The operators may define the eight hour of local night to cater for seasonal schedules.

3.10 NEIGHBORING COUNTRY

Any country whose standard time falls within a band of 3 hours (+1:30 hours on either side of India) i.e. countries covered in the standard time zone band of UTC+4 to UTC+7.

3.11 POSITIONING

The transferring of a non-operating crew member from place to place as a passenger at the behest of the operator for performance of a flight.

3.12 UNFORESEEN OPERATIONAL CIRCUMSTANCE

An unplanned event, such as unforeseen weather, unanticipated technical delay, equipment malfunction, diversions due to medical reasons or air traffic delay that is beyond the control of the operator.

3.13 WINDOW OF CIRCADIAN LOW (WOCL)

WOCL is best estimated by the hours between 0200 and 0600 for individuals adapted to a usual day-wake/night sleep schedule. This estimate of the window is calculated from scientific data on the circadian low of performance, alertness, subject report (i.e., peak fatigue) and body temperature. For flight duty periods that cross 3 or fewer time zones, the window of circadian low is estimated to be 0200 to 0600 home-base/ domicile time. For flight duty periods beyond 3 or more time zones, the window of circadian low is estimated to be 0200 to 0600 home-base/ domicile time for the first 48 hours only. After a crew member remains more than 48 hours away from home-base/ domicile time, the window of circadian low is estimated to be 0200 to 0600 referred to local time at the point of departure.

3.14 FATIGUE

A physiological state of reduced mental or physical performance capability resulting from sleep loss or extended wakefulness, circadian phase, or workload (mental and/or physical activity) that can impair a crew member’s alertness and ability to safely operate an aircraft or perform safety related duties.

4. OPERATOR’S RESPONSIBILITY

4.1 The operator shall not require a cabin crew member to operate an aeroplane if it is known or suspected that the cabin crew member is fatigued to the extent that the safety of flight may be adversely affected.

4.2 No operator shall schedule any cabin crew member for an assignment, which shall exceed the prescribed limitations.

4.3 Operators shall ensure that persons concerned with the operations of aircraft are trained and educated regarding dangers of fatigue, the causes of sleepiness and importance of sleep and proper sleep habits.

5. CABIN CREW MEMBER’S RESPONSIBILITY

5.1 Cabin crew members shall make best use of facilities and opportunities that are provided for rest and for the consumption of meals, and shall plan and use rest periods to ensure that they are fully rested.

6. STANDBY DUTY

6.1 The time of start, end and nature of the standby duty must be defined and notified to crew members.

6.2 When standby is undertaken at home, or in suitable accommodation provided by the Operator, the FDP shall start at the time the cabin crew reports at the airport.

6.3 When a crew member is on standby duty at airport, then the FDP shall be calculated using the start time of the standby duty.

6.4 Standby duty in no case shall exceed 8 hours.
7. FLIGHT TIME AND FLIGHT DUTY PERIOD LIMITATION- DOMESTIC AND NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES

7.1 The maximum number of hours any domestic operator can schedule its cabin crew members to do flight and flight duty shall be as follows:

7.2.1 No operator may assign any cabin crew to do any duty with the operator during any required rest period.

7.2.2 Cabin crew shall neither be detailed nor undertake any duty between periods embracing 0000 hrs to 0500 hrs. Local time if during the previous day he/she performed flight duty between the same periods.

7.2.3 Each cabin crew shall be relieved from all duties for at least 24 consecutive hours during any seven consecutive days. This 24 hours period shall embrace a local night. This rest will be in addition to the rest earned on the basis of the previous flight. Each operator shall ensure that this rest must be provided at the designated home base of the cabin crew to the extent possible.

Note: If due to unforeseen circumstances on the subsequent day, flight duty falls in a period embracing 0000hrs to 0500hrs then the rest period of the crew shall be increased by twice the amount of the duty that has extended beyond 0000hrs and the subsequent day rest shall include a local night.

8.2 No air carrier may schedule a cabin crew to perform duty in an aeroplane for more than 11 hrs of flight time during any 24 consecutive hours without a rest period. Before a cabin crew is detailed for an international flight, his/her rest period since the last flight shall not be less than 22 hrs. The rest of 22 hours will be either at home base or at another station from where the international flight shall originate.

8.3 Rest period shall be twice the flight time or 08 hrs whichever is greater.
